Everything Ready For Dominion Day Sports

ROSEMARY NEWS

Children's Sports in the Morning—Free Swimming for Youngsters All Day—Many Attractive Features on Afternoon Program

Monday, July 2, is Dominion Day holiday.

In Bassano it is the day of the annual Bassano and District sports.

In commemoration of the birthday of Canada and for the jollification of the Dominion Day, the Bassano Board of Trade has prepared a sports program for the holiday that offers a great variety of amusement and entertainment.

First on the program is the list of children's sports. They commence at 10 o'clock and will be run on the grounds west of the school. All children are eligible for these events.

The main program at the fair grounds starts at 1 o'clock p.m. A list of events appears in another column. It includes two baseball games, two football games, tug-of-war, athletic events, horse racing, pitching contest, entertainment from a group of clowns, carnival, fun and frivolity.

Indians from the Blackfoot reserve are expected to compete in the horse races and athletic events. The Blackfoot braves always take part in a grand entrance in the horse races.

The Indians will offer their paleface brothers stiff competition in the foot races and other athletic events.

Three picked teams will battle for honors in the baseball tournament. The Bassano and Rosemary clubs will compete in the first set and the Blackfoot will form a second team. Scandia, Bow City and Rainier will form the third team. A classy exhibition of baseball is anticipated.

An attractive feature for the boys and girls will be the free swimming for young people who want to use the outdoor pools.

Another attraction at the pool is a list of swimming and diving events, with cash prizes for the winners, and with many special events of H.W. Harper, consisting at 10 a.m. and to include hand and fancy diving, and swimming, for adults and children.

Carnival games with all their skill, color and ballyhoo will be operated at the fair grounds and also in the evening in front of the dance hall.

A group of clowns will put on an all-day performance, and their wise-cracks, gags, and fun-making will provide additional entertainment for the children.

Mac's Melody Makers, a six-piece orchestra, will play for the grand dance at night in the Masonic Community Hall. The floor is in first class condition, the hall is newly decorated, and the recently installed ventilating windows will make dancing more comfortable for the big crowd expected.

SCIENTISTS

at work

The popular idea of a scientist is as old as man with an absent-minded expression, but, though a millionaire for something that wouldn't be any use if he found me.

I wish I could take every one of my readers through any of the great industrial laboratories with which I am familiar, and in which I have often been a visitor, but work is done there that others more than a thousand young men, each of whom has a university Doctor's degree in chemistry, engineering or philosophy, and has had to prove his ability to do original research work before he could get his job.

They are very far from being the doodling doohickeys which the public imagines men of science to be. They are as keen, human and interesting a lot of men as I have ever encountered, and the main purpose is to find ways to make the telephone work faster, better and cheaper. But as products of their laboratories such inventions as talk on picture, a chain-bracketing television, and many others have come out of that laboratory.

PROGRESS

in a back book

I have little patience with the common complaint that inventions and machines have brought the world to grief. Exactly the opposite is true. What would be content to go back even to the days of our own household?

I can remember when there were no telephones, no electric lights, no electric power, no airplanes, no typewriters, no phonographs, no radios, no bathtubs or plumbing to speak of, no gas ranges, no automobile, of course, and not even any bicycles.

What's more, telephones and lights are still not普及. We are drowning in the strength of the strength of the human race.

I could fill this column with products of the application of science by inventing new serous humans think the world is better off.

HEALTH

life saver

I saw a notice posted in a New York subway car the other day which the Health Commissioner pointed out that only 27 babies died in the big city of Buffalo a last year who were under one thousand dead at a actually only 27 years ago. An older man has put an end to this nice score of the innocent.

One by one in my own time have seen the sources of mankind vanish under the advance of medical science. Smallpox, bubonic, yellow fever, malaria, typhus, typhoid, tuberculosis, scarlet fever, all the long list of diseases that took high tolls of us in the past, are now a nubility being conquered by the forward march of civilization and the steady advance in medical knowledge and public hygiene measures.

HUMAN BLOOD

The transfusion of blood from one person to another has become such an established method of treatment in various conditions that every important hospital has a list of "blood donors." These are men or women who are willing to part with a pint or more of blood for a fee of $5.00 or so.

Medical men learned through this work of blood transfusion that there are four distinct types of human blood, and that it is necessary to know which type of blood one is of the four types as that of the recipient. These four types are known as "O," "A," "B" and "AB."

The test for these blood types are so positive that recent examinations of the mummy of the Egyptian Pharaoh who had been dead for 3,000 years have revealed that he was of the blood type "AB."

The inhabitants of the Nile Delta at the time of the Pharaohs were all of a single blood type, the "AB."

Men of science are beginning to think it likely that there are four distinct types of human blood.

Men of science are beginning to think it likely that there are four distinct types of human blood. The descendants of the earth's inhabitants is an immense racial mixture. In the blood type it will be found which race is dominant in any given individual.

HUMAN THINGS HOT

The happy couple had a hard time getting out of bed this morning.

You can think only of me," said the little, "tell me that you have only of me."

"You see this was," responded her more practical husband, "and then I have to think of the tax."

HUMAN DISEASES

old Lady

There is a woman a piano teacher who can't seem to get along.

She has a boyish face and a youthful figure; perhaps she hasn't even the sign of a grey hair. But she has a very old mind and when a man comes to her door she always says, "I am left the care of youth behind."

Widely travelled, a keen student of economic, a good mixer, a clever orator, a lover of art, and a man of the world, the picture is regardless of her thoroughly competent over the crown.

Perhaps it is unfortunate that the government won't the death of her father before he can become king. He would be a king, a valuable counselor to the government of the people.

COAL SUBVENTION

Considerable benefit to the coal industry of the province is expected to be derived from the new subvention granted by the Dominion Government on steam coal shipments to the eastern provinces. This subvention will put the Alberta steam coal industry on equality with that of the maritime provinces.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Don't waste your delicate embroidery work in laundering. Use this method: Make a very hot thick paste of French chalk and spread it over your embroidery. Roll up the embroidery and paste carefully, and leave it in a dark place for a week.

When you take it out it will be quite stiff and when you haven't the patience to leave it for a week, wash and rinse it then dry out and hardening for several days.

The shiny appearance of a suit of men's clothing can be removed by rubbing the material with a piece of fine black emery paper. Emery paper can be bought at any hardware store.

After washing white corduroy, let it soak in soap water for half an hour. Then rinse it in clean water, changing the water at least three times and rinsing again in bleaching water.

After that, don't wring or squeeze the corduroy, but hang it dripping to dry in the open air. Do not iron it.

When you are boiling clothes, put them in cold water and bring them to a boil on the stove. Then let them boil for at least ten minutes.

It is most important that the diabetic give careful attention to his general health. He should be scrupulously clean about his body. Any abnormal condition, such as infected teeth or other focal infection, should receive proper treatment without delay. Exercise is essential as exercise helps to use up the sugars and starches.

Success in treatment rests with the patient. He requires regular medical supervision to instruct and guide him along the way, but his fate lies in his own hands. The diabetic who uses insulin and diet properly may hope for years of health and happiness.

To avoid diabetes, those of middle- or later years should keep their weight at or a little below the average. This is another way of saying that diabetes is more likely to occur among those who maintain a weight by combining moderation in eating with reasonable exercise.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 134 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

STATE HEALTH INSURANCE
State health insurance for Alberta will move one step nearer ultimate realization with the opening of a public hearing on June 28, 1928, at which Hon. George Headley, minister of health, purposed calling for some time this summer. The health department meanwhile has been gathering data to be placed before such a meeting, and is to be used, after such a meeting, in publishing information. The general scheme involved in the health insurance report to the last legislature will be the basis of both the meeting and the campaign following. Mr. Headley says that the intention is to have a public hearing in a representative meeting of representatives of women's organizations, through the provinces, medical and health authorities, municipal executives and health officials, and any other organization or individual that may be interested, to determine a program of information. This is in accord, he says, with an undertaking he gave in the legislature, and the purpose will be to discuss thoroughly the details of the proposed health plan.

Jury's Opinion
The defendant in a case tried in a western court had been duly convicted of theft, when it was seen, on "cross examination," that he had actually been in prison at the time the theft was committed.

"Why didn't you say so?" demanded the judge of the prisoner.

"Your honor," said the man apologetically, "I was afraid of prejudicing the jury against me."

Great Salt Lake in Utah is more than four times as large as the Dead Sea.

String them with a stick that you should keep for that specific purpose. Use a large meat grinder to cut up your cabbage for slaw. It's easier and does the work just as well as cutting it by hand.

A teaspoon of marshmallow added to the water when you candy apples will prevent them from drying out and hardening for several days.

Next time you make French dressing, put the ingredients into a fruit jar and shake. It's much easier and quicker than stirring with a fork.

INVESTIGATING BIRD DISEASES

Don't waste your time in the absence of a physician. Insulin is produced by the pancreas, and it is insulin which changes carbohydrates into fats, starches and sugars into glycerin, or animal starch, in which form it can be used at once, or stored up, until required, as an energy store.

For some unknown reason changes do occur in the islands of Langham, the part of the pancreas which produces insulin. When the pancreas fails to produce sufficient insulin, diabetes results. Carbohydrate metabolism is disturbed, and the body accumulates in the blood, and later, is present in the urine. The amount of sugar passed in the urine varies from a mere trace to as much as a pound or two a day.

Diabetes can be a dangerous disease. A number of young children develop the disease, but the majority of cases do occur after forty. Diabetes is found chiefly among those who, after reaching middle life, overeat, and, as a result, become overweight. Diabetes is a temporary disease, and may pay for their overindulgence in food.

Diet was the only treatment available before the discovery of insulin. Diet is just as important as it ever was, but, in many cases, diet alone is not sufficient. In such cases, insulin allows the diabetic to eat and use sufficient starches and sugars to maintain health and strength.

It is most important that the diabetic give careful attention to his general health. He should be scrupulously clean about his body. Any abnormal condition, such as infected teeth or other focal infection, should receive proper treatment without delay. Exercise is essential as exercise helps to use up the sugars and starches.

Success in treatment rests with the patient. He requires regular medical supervision to instruct and guide him along the way, but his fate lies in his own hands. The diabetic who uses insulin and diet properly may hope for years of health and happiness.

Control Measures For Canada Thistle

Canada thistle flourishes in varying degrees in all parts of Western Canada, and a native of Europe and Asia, has become a pest introduced into Canada.

The North West Grain Dealers' Association has

financed a survey conducted by Professors G. P. McRostie and W. T.

Wade, weed control authorities,

to determine the most satisfactory means of controlling

this weed.

The results of this study

have been prepared in pamphlet form and are now available

without charge at all county agriculture offices.

Dealing with control of grass weed star, some details as to the causes through weeds in Western Canada.

Canada thistle spreads through seed, running roots, stem growth and rhizomes, and by seedlings creeping out field and forage crops

by increasing plant and moisture content of soil.

By increasing the difficulty of cul-

ivation and making necessary

the use of more labor, the control of Canada thistle can be effected by increasing root and rhizome production.

The booklet outlines that the means of controlling this weed is through keeping the infested land entirely free of Canada thistle.

Complete control of the weed can be secured by various means of seed as well as control through chemicals and smothering. Much valuable information is contained in these pamphlets.
